VOL. V. NO. 283.

CHICAGO, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1899.

ST. LOUIS' NEW TRACK.

Messrs. Cella, Adler and Tilles, the promoters of the proposed new race track, have made rapid progress lately. Instead of dropping the matter after their failure to secure the Delmer Avenue site, the trio went ahead more energetically than ever. The local street railway people were responsible for the abandonment of the Delmer Avenue-Skinker Road site. Their inability to get together and make things pleasant for the track promoters caused Messrs. Cella, Adler and Tilles to seek another location for the proposed new track.

The street railway people were let out of it altogether and the race track promoters made a thorough inspection of territory adjacent to the steam railway lines running through the county. Three suitable sites for the proposed track were finally located and the selection of one of the three is to be made shortly. As soon as that part of the deal is settled the trio will be in a position to make public their plans and go ahead with the project, so they state. Speaking of the matter Wednesday, one of the trio said:

"We hope to close a deal for the ground on which the new track is to be built by the end of the week. Judge Clark's recent decision, holding that the breeders' racing bill was constitutional, has convinced me and my associates that racing is now on a thoroughly substantial basis in the State of Missouri. We have already decided on putting up a first-class racing plant. The track will be a regulation mile affair, with all the innovations possible. Modern race track builders have perfected improvements of all sorts, which will enable us to construct a perfect plant. We will build stalls to accommodate 400 to 500 head of horses. None of the purses will be less than $400, and our stakes, with few exceptions, will have fixed sums added to them by the association. The exceptions will be several big fixtures, such as a 2-year-old event patterned after the Futurity, and a 3-year-old classic on the order of the Realization.

"Capt. James H. Rees, of Memphis, is the man we have our eye on for the judge's stand. The Captain will be the chairman of the Racing Stewards at New Orleans this winter. He made an enviable record in the stand at Hawthorne last summer. There is some talk of the Jockey Club bringing him east next season, but if our track is built we will bid as high as anybody for the Captain's services. Several prominent horsemen have asked to be permitted to take stock in the new track, but we have not yet decided whether to let them in or not. In view of the fact that we are prepared to hang up as much money as any of the Chicago tracks, we have no fear of the result of a clash with the Windy City."—St. Louis Republic.

GOSSIP OF THE TURF.

Up to within two years ago it was with considerable difficulty that racehorse specials were secured from Chicago. The owners and the agents of the track had no difficulty in securing the necessary permission from the roads to run a special, but the roads took their time in delivering the cars. It was common that a train took fifty hours from Chicago. This year very long and very welcome strides have been made in rapid transportation. Last year the old fifty-hour schedule, if it may be called by such a high-sounding name, was reduced considerably, and this season two specials came south from Chicago in very speedy time. The first made the run of 916 miles in thirty-four hours and delivered every horse in good condition. The management of the local track takes these efforts of the railroads to be accommodating as rather a compliment. They consider that it shows that even the railroads are beginning to appreciate the importance of New Orleans as a racing point. The turfmen have recognized this point for some time, and are coming south in preference to traveling far out west.—New Orleans Picayune.

Enoch Wishard gives his views rather freely about the manners and methods of training horses in England. He does not mince his words, but boldly proclaims that American horses are as good as the English horses. In addition, he modestly asserts that American trainers lay away over the Englishmen in the art of preparing horses to race. He assumes that American trainers can buy horses in England and make a great improvement in them by training them on the American plan. As for the American riders, Mr. Wishard declares they have demoralized the English school by causing all the jockeys who have been brought up from childhood in the hard and fast lines laid down by a century of trainers to change their methods and to endeavor to imitate the Americans. Mr. Wishard will sail for England on Saturday with a consignment of horses for Richard Croker.

The Melbourne Cup was run November 7 and was won by Merriwee, 95 pounds; Vovon, 112 pounds, was second, and Dewey, 92 pounds, third.

KEENE'S HORSES.

The horses owned by James R. and Foxhall P. Keene that were trained by James Rowe at Brookdale, are all in excellent condition. Chacornac, the Futurity winner, has almost completely recovered from the effects of the splint that developed after his brilliant performance in that race, and takes daily exercise in one of the largest paddocks at Brookdale. Voter, the fleetest horse on the American turf, and who shares with Imp the popular regard of the masses of the race course, is thoroughly enjoying a well earned rest. He is turned out every day and is so intelligent, docile and lovable that every toy on the place finds time to pay him a visit some time during the day.

Voter's vitality is simply amazing. He had a severe campaign as a three-year-old, was shipped across the Atlantic to England, where he was messed about and woefully mismanaged during his four-year-old period. He was re-shipped to this country last December a total wreck to all appearances and indications. Under the careful and judicious management of Mr. Rowe he began to recover his energies, and in midsummer he was sent to the post at Brighton Beach. In a race of five furlongs, with 105 pounds up, Voter defeated a good field of the fastest sprinters on the American turf. He met but a single defeat during the season. Imp lowered his colors in a race at Sheephead Bay. It was no disgrace to Voter, however, as Imp had defeated every horse of prominence that raced in the east last year.

St. Cloud, who is now a gelding, appears to have permanently broken down in the near fore-pastern, but if he can be patched up, and there is no better master in the business than Mr. Rowe, the probabilities are that St. Cloud will race in the future over the hurdles or in steeplechases.

Uriel, who has had a year's rest, will be trained again, and, if he stands the preparation, will race again next year. Virginia Earle and Runaway Girl are doing splendidly. The Keene yearlings are an extremely promising lot; so that the white with blue spots promises to be as prominent next year as it has been in the past.—Morning Telegraph.
